History and description of the remains

In 1937, human remains representing, at minimum, one individual were removed from an unidentified site in Two Rivers, Manitowoc County, WI. Notes indicate that the unidentified collector worked for a sewer company and found this individual while excavating under a playground. The individual was described as having a “tomahawk in skull.” In January 1999, this individual was transferred to Pueblo Grande Museum by citizen Evelyn Anderes. The human remains are fragmentary and belong to an adult 18-to-25 years old, possibly female. No known individuals were identified. No associated funerary objects are present.

Staff at Pueblo Grande Museum have attempted to find additional information about the individual described in this notice. Staff have contacted the Anderes family and the Wisconsin State Historic Preservation Office (WI SHPO). A researcher affiliated with the WI SHPO was unable to locate additional information regarding the collection of this individual.

Determinations made by the Pueblo Grande Museum

- According to final judgments of the Indian Claims Commission or the Court of Federal Claims, the land from which the Native American human remains were removed is the aboriginal land of the Citizen Potawatomi Nation, Oklahoma; Forest County Potawatomi Community, Wisconsin; Hannahville Indian Community, Michigan; Match-e-be-nash-she-wish Band of Pottawatomi Indians of Michigan; Menominee Indian Tribe of Wisconsin; Nottawaseppi Huron Band of the Potawatomi, Michigan (previously listed as Huron Potawatomi, Inc.); Pokagon Band of Potawatomi Indians, Michigan and Indiana; Prairie Band Potawatomi Nation (previously listed as the Prairie Band of Potawatomi Nation, Kansas). Hereafter, these Indian Tribes are referred to as “The Aboriginal Land Tribes.”
